The Department of Physiology, Faculty of Medicine, Khon Kaen University, in collaboration with the Physiological Society of Thailand, is organizing the 51st International Physiology Conference on the topic “Functional Food & Health Innovation: Opportunity and Challenge for the Future Trend” at Avani Khon Kaen Hotel & Convention Centre from November 13-15, 2024.

The objective of this international conference is to enhance advanced and up-to-date knowledge in physiology related to the use of functional foods in disease prevention and treatment, as well as future trends in the use of functional foods. It also aims to present knowledge and research in various physiological systems from both domestic and international sources, facilitating the exchange of knowledge and future academic and research collaborations.

This conference will showcase advancements in physiology and related fields such as health sciences, pharmacology, nutrition, functional food, and educational progress. It aims to promote interdisciplinary research cooperation, and we anticipate that over 200 participants from both Thailand and abroad will attend. The exhibition of companies showcasing innovations and modern tools and equipment for research and education is crucial in enhancing the completeness of the conference elements, as well as increasing visibility and engagement for the attendees.
